CONFERENCE

February 24-26, 2023

Georgia Department
of Human Services
Division of Family & Children Services

JEKYLL ISLAND
CONVENTION CENTER

75 North Beachview Drive
Jekyll Island, GA 31527

To those who serve Georgia's children,

We are pleased to welcome you to the Adoptive and Foster Parent Association of Georgia's (AFPAG's) 50th Annual Education Conference. This year's conference will be hosted at the Jekyll Island Convention Center, located at 75 North Beachview Drive. We will celebrate 50 years of providing services and meeting the needs of our membership, foster parents, adoptive parents, kinship parents, relative parents and the Georgia Division of Family and Children Services staff. Thank you for joining us to help celebrate this outstanding milestone in one of the most beautiful islands in the state of Georgia.

Our theme for this year is "Reminiscing About the Past". During the past 50 years, we have had some successes and made errors alike. However, we have learned from our mistakes, overcome many challenges placed before us and have continued to make improvements. AFPAG and the Division have had a great long-standing partnership, and as president I plan to continue building upon the foundation established by our past presidents.

I also would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for electing me to serve as president of the greatest association in the nation. The Board of Directors for the Adoptive and Foster Parent Association of Georgia includes 27 volunteers from across the state. It is a pleasure to serve as your president, and on behalf of my fellow board members, let me again say welcome. I am looking forward to seeing all of you! Enjoy our conference!

Sincerely,

Carsandra Favors

Ms. Carsandra Favors

President, Adoptive and Foster Parent Association of Georgia Inc.

Welcome Conference Attendees!

Happy 50th Anniversary! It is my pleasure to serve as the AFPAG Chairperson for the 2023 conference.

We are blessed to see another year. This year we are celebrating the Adoptive and Foster Parent Association of Georgia's (AFPAG's) 50th anniversary. Our conference theme is "Reminiscing About the Past." In 1973, AFPAG began with the mission to empower, support and advocate for foster and adoptive families, who enrich the quality of life for Georgia's children.

AFPAG has selected several qualified presenters who will provide our attendees with captivating information that is especially important to enhancing our ability to take care of Georgia's children. These presenters are coming from all areas of Georgia. Educating our membership is the first step in keeping our homes open, functioning, and taking better care of Georgia's children.

The conference committee has been working very diligently to make this 50th anniversary a wonderful event for you. Saturday evening, we are planning a 1973 oldies fashion show, door prizes, a DJ, and night of dancing. We would like those who can please come dressed in 1970's attire. There will be other activities that will be announced later. We are planning to have a wonderful time.

Due to the unpredictable nature of Covid, if there is an unexpected rise in cases, we are asking our attendees to please wear masks during the AFPAG Conference.

We are glad to have you back at AFPAG's 50th Annual Education Conference.

Sincerely,

Eunice E. Daniels

Eunice E. Daniels Conference Chair

Workshop Descriptions | Session A
Friday, February 24, 2023
10:45am – 12:15pm

A-1. Beyond The IEP. So, your child has been placed in Special Education and they have an IEP, what's next? Participants will learn how to use the superpowers that an IEP provides. It can change you and your child's life. This workshop is a must-attend workshop if you have a child in Special Education.

Presenter: Dr. Sherry Sutton

Workshop Track: Education

A-2. Post Adoption Services Through Adoption Assistance. The Georgia Department of Family and Children Services looks to provide quality supportive services to adoptive families from the time a child is first placed in the home until the child becomes an adult. These services range from referrals for preventive therapeutic resources to crisis intervention services. This workshop will provide an overview of adoption assistance benefits and describe efforts to improve awareness and access to post-adoption services.

Presenters: Lani Burden, Leah Jamison, Evangel D. Wicks and Angel Wittmann

Workshop Track: Adoption

A-3. Fear Factor and Its Impact on Behavior {Empowering Principle}. Felt safety is that visceral sense of feeling safe that doesn't necessarily reflect actual safety. For many children and youth in care, even though they may be safe for the first time in their lives, they may not feel safe. As a caregiver or in your profession, you may not always feel safe either. Felt safety is crucial to our ability to connect and learn and grow, so join us to identify fear-based behaviors and ways we can promote felt safety for ourselves and those in our care.

Presenters: Mary Margaret Mauer and Melissa Trussell

Workshop Track: Safety

A-4. Georgia's Foster Parent Bill of Rights: The presenters will go over 23 items in the Georgia Bill of Rights, when you may need to contact an AFPAG Advocate, and reasons Georgia has a bill of rights for foster parents. The presenters will go over the three levels of grievances and the time limit for filing and getting a response.

Presenter: Dr. Bettie Stafford, Kimberly Watkins, and Mrs. Angela Whidby

Workshop Track: Foster Care

A-5. Stronger Together/Parents and Teens: This workshop focuses on helping parents become the kind of parents with-long-standing influence. The discussion will focus on the power of loving relationships, how to tip the scale toward a positive future, strengthening family ties and how to respond to extreme circumstances will be the focus.

Presenter: Brenda Gillespie

Workshop Track: Parenting

A-6. Becoming a More Resilient Caregiver: Helping Families Thrive: Resilience is often thought of as an ability to bounce back from a tough time. In this training, we're going to look at resilience as bouncing forward. Parents and caregivers frequently model resilience for children. Our actions no matter how small can have a significant impact on our children and on our communities. This training will discuss our responses to stress, the impact stress can have, ways we can promote positive childhood experiences and create resilience through connection.

Presenters: Deborah Chosewood and Tiffany Sawyer

Workshop Track: Parenting

A-7. Navigating Confidentiality and Access to Information: Foster parents and others participating in the juvenile court and foster care system often struggle with gaining access to information. Despite statutory provisions designed to ensure that foster parents and other caregivers have information to help them understand the "big picture" of the case as well as what to expect day-to-day, this information is not always provided. This situation leaves foster parents and other caregivers struggling to provide care and assurance to the children in their care.

Presenters: Jerry Bruce and Angela Tyner

Workshop Track: Legal

A-8. Brown's Trip During Covid-19 Trip to Holland by Emily Pearl Kingsley: Emily Pearl Kingsley's analogy of "Welcome to Holland" will show how a perfect plan to parent can end up taking a detour and become an incredibly challenging trip. But is it the end or is there a different trip you can take? So, let's buckle up and be resilient so we can parent with love.

Presenter: Suzette Brown

Workshop Track: Parenting

Workshop Descriptions | Session B
Friday, February 24, 2023
3:15pm – 4:45pm

B-1. Bikers Against Child Abuse: B.A.C.A. Bikers Against Child Abuse exist with the intent to create a safer environment for children. B.A.C.A is an organization of bikers who help empower children to not feel afraid of the world in which they live in. Two B.A.C.A. members are assigned as the child's primary contact. They will remain in close contact with the child. They support each child based on their individual needs. B.A.C.A. is available to accompany your child to court and parole hearings. In addition, they work in conjunction with local and state officials who are already in place to protect children.

Presenter: Brad Hayes, Betty Herring, and Stephen Tiller

Workshop Track: Safety

B-2. Giving Voice Through Choice: For children and youth who come from places of relational trauma, many typically feel they have no voice and are much more likely to use maladaptive strategies such as aggression or manipulation to get their needs met. This workshop will explain how children lose their voice and how caregivers can offer one of the most powerful connecting gifts by restoring a child's voice through attentiveness and shared power.

Presenters: Allyson Christianson and Elijah Miranda

Workshop Track: Parenting

B-3. Let's Talk Adoption: Whether you are a prospective adoptive parent, a resource parent, or a partnership parent, you want to attend this workshop if you have children placed in your home whom you desire to adopt. Participants attending this workshop will gain knowledge regarding the requirements and the process to adopt children from Georgia's child welfare system. The primary focus will be on laws governing adoption policy in Georgia and Georgia's best practices supported by adoption policy.

Presenters: Deborah Burrus Germany and Karla Wells

Workshop Track: Adoption

B-4. F.R.E.E (Fostering Relationships, Elevating Experience): "There is no greater agony than bearing an untold story inside of you." A parent who has been through the process of self-discovery, the pain of losing their children to the child welfare system is often left feeling voiceless and alone. After losing my children after years of incarceration, the termination of my parental rights, and the reunification of my family, my greatest desire was to share my untold story. Through the process of self-discovery, education, and therapy, I discovered my voice and learned to articulate my own experience.

Presenter: Erin Patrice Thomas

Workshop Track: Parenting

B-5. It Takes Two to Make a Thing Go Right/ Collaboration with Your Child's School: Are you eager to go beyond participating in your child's education? Then this is the workshop for you! Learning strategies to engage positively with your special education teacher is exciting and proven to increase the success of the child specifically and a child with disabilities. Come and join me in learning best practices behavior and academic strategies to help your child achieve success in school and at home.

Presenter: Dr. Kimberly Gore-Mobley

Workshop Track: Education

B-6. Caring for Foster Youth in Real Life: Efficacy v/s Effectiveness: Foster parents face many challenges on a day-to-day basis. Despite all the training provided, when foster parents are in the middle of a situation and there is no one around to ask, “What do I do?”, foster parents must somehow figure it out. Sometimes these decisions are later questioned, leaving the foster parents with the anxiety of wondering, “Am I doing it right?” The purpose of this workshop is to give foster parents tips on fostering in a safe and effective manner. Key topics of discussion will include how to keep the home safe while living in it at the same time, and what to do when training is not enough to prepare the foster parent for the behaviors experienced.

Presenters: Tiffany Cutliff and Samuel Pittman

Workshop Track: Parenting

B-7. Language as a Missing Link and Missed Opportunity: This presentation explains why language development is well-being, an indicator, and a prerequisite for learning and self-regulation. Education staff and others that work with children can apply the elements of this presentation. Participants will learn how language development is a well-being indicator and ways to eliminate the gap between our knowledge of the impact of language and our practice and policies. Participants will learn how language skills protect an individual from mental health issues, as the ability to share and cope with emotions relies on an “inner language”. Participants will learn why the failure to develop skills jeopardizes mental health and educational attainment. Participants will learn opportunities to institute new, proactive approaches to employ language as a beacon of guiding light, in their own work with children, from infancy through adolescence.

Presenters: Dr. Garry McGiboney and Arianne Weldon

Workshop Track: Mental Health

B-8. Black Boys Matters: Positioning Promise: The positioning of African American boys and young men in the child welfare system for a positive outcome has often been framed as a challenge and a daunting one. This view has had a limiting effect on the perspective regarding these young men within the foster home and school system they live in and attend, and the child welfare system charged with their wellbeing. Too often the net effect is where potential goes unrealized. These realities have far reached implications beyond the young men themselves and include how they show up as fathers, partners, and members/leaders of their communities.

Presenter: LeRoy E. Reese, Ph.D.

Workshop Track: Parenting

Workshop Descriptions | Session C
Saturday, February 25, 2023

C-1. Attachment: Our Framework for Relationships (Connecting Principle) Mindfulness Strategy: Our attachment style plays a crucial role in how we see the world and how we do relationships through life. In this workshop, participants will learn about four different attachment styles, how those are developed in childhood, how to assess their own style, and how to promote healthy attachment for children or youth they serve through the TBRI Connecting Principle.

Presenters: Allyson Christianson and Mark Andrews

Workshop Track: Mental Health

C-2 Vision of Family and Child Wellbeing: Georgia's plan for increasing family prevention and community support is the section within Georgia Division of Family and Children Services tasked with managing Federal and State funding streams supporting programs and initiatives to prevent child maltreatment.

Presenters: Deborah Chosewood and Jennifer Stein

Workshop Track: Well-being

C-3. Post Adoption Services Through Adoption Assistance. The Georgia Department of Family and Children Services looks to provide quality supportive services to adoptive families from the time a child is first placed in the home until the child becomes an adult. These services range from referrals for preventive therapeutic resources to crisis intervention services. This workshop will provide an overview of adoption assistance benefits and describe efforts to improve awareness and access to post-adoption services.

Presenters: Lani Burden, Leah Jamison, Evangel D. Wicks and Angel Wittmann

Workshop Track: Adoption

C-4. Understanding Amerigroup 360: This workshop will provide participants with information and tools needed to secure health care services for children placed in their care. The Department of Community Health (DCH) showed a need for enhanced care coordination and service integration for children in foster care and receiving adoption assistance, and youth in DJJ custody who live in community residential facilities. This interactive workshop will discuss and provide information on the recent changes to healthcare services as well as information on improving the health and well-being of children/youth.

Presenter: Ronald Dunham

Workshop Track: Healthcare

C-5. Navigating Confidentiality and Access Information: Foster parents and others participating in the juvenile court and the foster care system often struggle with gaining access to information. This is despite statutory provisions designed to ensure that foster parents and other caregivers have information to help them understand the "big picture" of the case. This workshop will provide information on confidentiality and access to information. What part does the foster parent's bill of rights play? What are my rights to attend court hearings? What role does my AFPAG representative play, and what about the office of the child advocate?

Presenters: Jerry Bruce and Angela Tyner

Workshop Track: Legal

C-6. What to Expect When, NOT IF, you are Reported for Abuse or Neglect: In this workshop, CPS Intake Communication Center (CICC) leadership team members will share with caregiver's child abuse data as it relates to foster and adoptive parents. We will discuss the role of caregivers as mandated reporters along with tips for completing the report on the mandated reporter website. The presenter will also share what caregivers should expect when they are reported for child abuse or neglect from standard operating procedures, the investigative process, and appropriate options available to resolve concerns.

Presenter: Marva Reese and Nicole McDougald

Workshop Track: Safety

C-7. Navigating Early Childhood Services: Ensuring the Well-Being Needs of Young Children in Foster Care: Serving young children in foster care is no small task. Research in the neurosciences has established that approximately 80 percent of brain development occurs by the time a child is five years old, with the first three years seeing the maximum growth. Children in this age group are particularly vulnerable to the adverse effects of foster care placement. In these early years, quality care, education, and early intervention give children a head start on skill development, school readiness, and future success. This workshop will provide an overview of the services, support, and resources designed to meet the needs of children in foster care under the age of five. The DFCS Early Childhood Collaboration Unit will focus on critical areas such as early childhood education options, early intervention services, and childcare (CAPS) benefits.

Presenter: Victrecia Hines

Workshop Track: Education

C-8. The Impact of Prenatal Substance Exposure and Plan of Safe Care: This workshop will provide an overview of the short-term and long-term effects of prenatal substance exposure and available services within Georgia to serve these children. In addition, this workshop will provide an overview of the Plan of Safe Care which is federally required by law for infants who have been prenatally exposed to substance abuse and their families.

Presenters: Dr. Claire Coles and Kelly Thornton

Workshop Track: Safety
