

The map of Georgia is divided into three distinct regions, each color-coded and labeled with large black text:

- North (Gray): This region covers the northernmost part of the state, including counties from Dade in the northwest to Rabun in the northeast. Major cities like Dalton and Dalton are marked with red dots.
- Metro (Pink): This region is centered around the Atlanta metropolitan area, including counties from Cobb to DeKalb. Major cities like Atlanta and Atlanta are marked with red dots.
- South (Blue): This region covers the southern and eastern parts of the state, including counties from Wilkes in the north to Camden in the south. Major cities like Savannah, Savannah, and Augusta are marked with red dots.

Counties are labeled with their names in all caps, and major cities are indicated by red dots. The map uses a light gray background for the state's outline and a white background for the county boundaries.
